

HIV and Stroke

Good and bad controls

Good controls

- Block non-causal paths
- Improve precision
- Allow inference of causal effects

Bad controls

- Block causal paths (blocking pipes)
- Open non-causal paths (opening colliders)
- Reduce precision
- Prevents causal inference